

May 14, 2017

“Do not handicap your children by making their lives easy”
Robert A Heinlein

When I was growing up, my father once told me that the most difficult job in the world was to be a good parent. Boy was he right! Being the father of three children, I have found it to be the most challenging and rewarding assignment I have ever encountered. As the end of the year approaches, here are a couple of tips to help your child have success in school as we enter the most exciting part of the school year:

- ✓ Be available to help your children with their homework.
- ✓ Try to avoid taking on too many evening commitments.
- ✓ Never belittle your children for asking for help.
- ✓ Avoid over scheduling your family.
- ✓ Avoid taking on more than you can manage.
- ✓ Support your children’s efforts over their results.

If we can provide you with additional information or assistance, please contact your child’s teacher or call me @ 714.528.7475. I am also available via email at rrendon@bousd.us and I will do my best to assist you or your child in any way I can. Keep up the good work! Thanks for your continued support and don’t forget to follow us on Twitter - @olindaeagles

Mr. Rendon
Principal